PROFILE

I am an experienced Python Developer with a strong background in back-end development.I excel in crafting live streaming solutions, implementing microservices architecture, and diving into challenging projects. My recent work at Tawasol Map included building a captivating live streaming experience for a strategic game using Python, websockets, and Redis, demonstrating my adaptability and innovation. I've also engaged in a variety of freelancing and self-projects, from Django projects to data analysis, showcasing my versatility and continuous learning. At Duty Ltd, I dealt with cybersecurity tools and heavy backgroundtasks. I'm passionate about Python development and eager to take on new challenges.
